It is not possible that the Legislative Council can do justice to the collection of bills which were read a first time on the 25th without devoting a good many long and industrious sittings to their discussion. At present a session of three quarters of an hour is considered a long and arduous day's work and if two such were crowded into a fortnight the Council would be quite exhausted. It is to be hoped however, that with the stimulous of knowing that really important legislation is before them, the members will for the next month or so take greater interest in their parliamentary functions. The tone adopted by the GOVERNOR on the day of the last meeting seems to show that he is not by any means jealous of interference by the members of the Council, on the contrary that he is most anxious there should be a manifestation of real interest on their part in the work now going forward. He was most earnest in pressing on the members the propriety of calling on him for information connected with any clauses in the new bills which required elucidation and although it is not perhaps exactly the best way for a consultative body to deliberate,—this proposed method of deliberating individually and in 6th day of August next, at the Offices of the private with the President,—there can be no doubt anxiety that they should ask him questions showed a most desire that they should do something more than register his ordinances as if the Council were a lit de justice.

Never we suppose since the Legislative Council of Hongkong has been in existence has it been called upon to give its sanction to more important or widely reaching enactments than those before it at present. According to the standing orders there may be a discussion on the principle of each of these bills when it is brought up for a second reading, and after the second reading the Council will go into committee on the clauses Now unless these forms are to be a farce altogether and reduce the Legislative Council to the lowest depth of degradation, they must be carried out earnestly and conscientiously. So far as the discussion on the principle of the several ordinances is concerned less time need be spent on that than on details. That legislation in connection with property, the books frequenting this harbour, the registration of houses in the Chinese quarter, and the police regulations for ensuring cleanliness, is required, can scarcely be a matter of doubt. It would be better however if even the principles of these bills were ventilated to some extent before they are passed on to committee, for it must not be supposed that they are closed and final enactments by all thinking men in the colony. One view which has been taken of the ordinances as a whole, is that they approach the purposes to be achieved in the wrong way; that instead of compelling junk men to report themselves at the Harbor Master's office, and householders to furnish information, they should provide that the Harbor Master should keep a bounding boat to look after junks and that the registration should be arranged by the canvassers, that in point of fact the methods proposed, involve the performance of government work by private persons with a multitude of other things to do. It is unnecessary to go into this point just now because we are dealing with another matter, but most assuredly it ought to be taken into consideration by the Council. Then again there is one other point which should not be forgotten when the second reading of some of these ordinances comes on. If the Legislative Council is ever to be reformed it must, even under its present organisation, show some anxiety for improvement. There are not two opinions so far as we have observed public opinion in this place, as to the desirability of expanding the functions of the Legislative Council. Every one is agreed that there ought to be a large addition to the number of non-official members, and that the Council should be promoted to the status of a political reality. An ardent desire for this does not show want of appreciation of an able and conscientious GOVERNOR. It is during the administration of such a man that a fundamental reform may be striven for with the best chance of succes. Nor is a wish for it to be taken as an indication of distrust or jealousy of power in the hands of any one particular GOVERNOR. The colony is never for very long under one reign, it is at the mercy of the Colonial office and it is naturally anxious for, in the future some protections may be taken against the return of a such a period for instance as that of SIR JOHN BOWRING'S administration. In referring to a time so far back as this there is no fear of wounding anybody's feelings, and as there seems a perfectly unanimous sentiment of disgust for the conduct of the government at that time, it is fair to conclude that the community would view its recurrence with great regret. Its recurrence however might be the event of any year, as the constitution of the Island is organised at present, and considering the growth, the importance of the colony and the brilliant future which may be before it this is a state of things which ought not to exist, which no GOVERNOR sincerely desirous of promoting the permanent advantage of Hongkong would wish to perpetuate, the reform of which would indeed, be the greatest

Police Intelligence, August 2nd.

BEFORE J. C. WHITE ESQ.

John Regan and John Dulley, seamen, staying at Blackwood's tavern, were charged with being drunk and assaulting Low-a-kum a licensed hawker.

Prosecutor stated that at about four o'clock yesterday afternoon he was carrying two baskets of fruit in Lascar Row, when he met the prisoners who stopped him and took some of his fruit. Upon asking for payment they kicked his baskets and upset the fruit in the street, and took hold of him. A European constable came up and took them in charge.

P. C. John Mahoney said that he saw the second prisoner holding on to the prosecutor as queue which was in consequence round his neck and prosecutor was bleeding at the mouth. The second prisoner was drunk.

Prisoner No. 1 said that he was drunk and did not remember anything about it.

The second stated that he saw the first scuffling with prosecutor and went to separate them.

They were each fined $1 and sentenced to pay the prosecutor $4 each.

PLAYING FOOT BALL IN THE STREET.

Victoria Flooey, a boarding house keeper, was charged with causing obstruction of the street by playing at foot ball with some others.

P. C. 386 said that at about six o'clock yesterday evening the prisoner and several more were kicking a bamboo ball about in Hollywood road. A crowd of Chinese were round looking at the fun and obstructing the thoroughfare. On the ball being kicked into the shop of Ah Ching, the police constable told him that he was obstructing the thoroughfare of the street and recommended him to go away.

Prisoner answered that it was no business of the constables.

Mr. Flores was dismissed and advised in future to go to the parade ground when he wanted to play foot ball.

SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER.

Lee-a-tung who described himself as a trader from Canton was brought up as a suspicious character, having run away on the approach of a constable.

P. C. 218, said, that he was driving away a lot of hawkers who were hanging up the thoroughfare, and prisoner who was standing near, suddenly took to his heels. Constable chased, and after a long run caught him. When searched, some cash two knives, and twelve bad dollars were found upon him.

Prisoner stated that he had just come down from Canton to buy some silk which is cheaper here than there, on account of exemption from duty.

Nothing was known against the prisoner, as he was allowed the benefit of the doubt, and discharged.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

Lee-a-sam and Lee-a-nee stone cutters at Kowloon were charged with attacking Lee-a-tsze, tying him up in a house, and robbing him of three mace.

Lee-a-sam stated, I am a farmer near Kowloon city. On the 1st instant about midnight I was returning from the Kowloon theatre in company with a female relative when we were met by the prisoners and three others, all armed with daggers. They seized us and took us to a village named Hong Hom, where we were placed in a stone cutters shed. They demanded $ 00 of me. I said that I had no money and they beat me and the woman also. My hands were tied behind my back and one end of the rope made fast to the bed. The second prisoner drew his dagger and threatened to cut my throat if I did not give him $100. The woman was not tied up and she escaped early in the morning. She is so ill from the beating she received that she cannot appear in court to-day. I was not released until about eight o'clock. I was robbed of three mace.

The second prisoner said that prosecutor previously kidnapped his brother.

The case was remainded for further evidence.

STEALING A REVOLVER.

Mr. John Bunicre charged yung a Yee a coolie with being concerned in the theft of a revolver from his shop.

Prosecutor stated that having occasion this morning to send letter, he called for a coolie and prisoner and another came into his shop. He gave the letter to prisoner and shortly afterwards missed a revolver from his shop. Prisoner returned in a few minutes with an answer to the letter and he caused him of stealing the revolver and gave him in charge. He did a think prisoner took it, but the coolie who came into the shop with him. Prisoner denies all knowledge of the revolver or the other coolie who went in the shop with him.

They Magistrate remarked that returning with an answer to the letter did not look much like theft, and prisoner was discharged.

A FALSE CHARGE.

Chun a Hou charged two men with assaulting him. Prisoner stated that yesterday afternoon about five o'clock or, he was walking with a friend near Ty-pin-sh an market, when he saw six men also walking. Prisoners are two of these men not by which any GOVERNOR could celebrate his administration. At this moment when owing to the quantity of legislation simultaneously brought before it, the Council will necessarily occupy a more important position in the public estimation and in its own than in can have occupied for some time past, the opportunity for asserting its own claims to independance and a dignified position should not be lost.

The real work however, which the Council is now called upon to perform is to be done when the bills go into committee. If the members allow clause after clause to pass in silence without attempting to criticise them, (and the tenderest regard for a draft ordinance cannot blind a man to the fact that there must be errors lying perdus somewhere which future experience will reveal at considerable cost but which patient investigation might discover in the first instance), if the Council in short fails to exert itself as if each man had the responsibility of these new laws upon him self, it will,—at any rate be quite impossible to express ones feelings. It is all very well for the members of Council to go privately to His Excellency asking questions, like good children showing an interest in their lessons out of class time, but that is not the proper way to set about this work which has to be done. A regular session, meetings, twice or three times a week for a month or more, and sittings of three or four hours intead of three quarters, is urgently needed at the present crisis. This will involve some little sacrifice of time on the part of the members it is true, and those who will feel the sacrifice most keenly are the non-official members whose presence nevertheless is most important. To order to meet their convenience as far as possible it would be desirable try if some other hour in the day would not be better than noon for the meetings. The standing order mention noon as the usual hour of meeting but admits the right of special circumstances to change it. A later time would probably suit the members better and make it more possible for them to remain three or fourhours at work. This however, is a matter of detail. The main point is to impress the council with a conviction that the Public of Hongkong "looks towards" them as Yankees are supposed to say. The Public of Hongkong, (shall we, imitating Mr. Eugene Wrayburn in Dicken's last novel, "abbreviate this unpeopeful tautology" and say the P.H.K. ?), the P.H.K. is aware that in this emergency a great deal depends upon the members of the Legislative Council, and like our beloved country on a momentous occasion of which some of our readers may perhaps have heard, "expects every man to do his duty."

The Public Gardens.

The Band Performance which should have taken place yesterday is fixed for to-day when the Bandstand, the handsome present that has been made by the Parsees to the colony will be used for the first time. It is to be hoped that a large number of people will be present, to show the subscribers to the stand that their good intentions have not been thrown away.

The prisoner said he was once a boatman but now out of employment. He was walking along when he kicked against the chisel. Prosecutor accused him of trying to steal his chisel and beat him so he ran away.

He was sent to gaol for one month with hard labour.

MANSLAUGHTER.

Murwanjee Jurwanjee, the Police Constable No. 220 who shot the woman at Pokfolam on the 25th ultimo, and was found guilty of manslaughter by a coroner's jury, was to-day brought before F. W. Mitchell Esq.

P. C. William Williams was stationed at Pokfolam on the 25th ultimo and about ten o'clock prisoner and P. C. 260 came and made a statement to the effect that a woman had been shot by the prisoner underneath the a-mond bridge. The Ministerial Crisis.

The papers contain interesting accounts of the government defeat on the 19th on Lord Dunkellin's amendment:—

The Committee divided at a quarter past one o'clock, and the result showed a majority of 11 against the Government, the amendment being carried by 315 to 304.—Sensation as have been the exciting divisions of this Session, this scene and the excitement all in the Irishe enthusiasm surpassed them all in the fruitie enthusiasm with which the defeat of the Government was received. When Lord Dunkellin took from the clerk the paper containing the numbers, the cheers were prevented him reading them aloud for a good minute, and when the decisive character of the majority became known, it was again accompanied by the waving of hats, clapping of hands, and other demonstrations. When silence was restored Mr. Dodson proceeded to put the question that Lord Dunkellin's amendment be inserted in the clause, but was interrupted by Mr. Ayrton, who objected to it, on the ground that the proposal to insert words in a clause which had long since been passed was irregular. Mr. Gladstone's explicit declaration it was a matter of time to go on.—Some few faint cries of "No" were raised from the Opposition benches, but the Government offering no objection, the motion was agreed to.

The House sat at twelve o'clock, but no business was done, the Committee of supply being postponed.—At the six o'clock sitting every part of the House was densely crowded with an expectant throng eager to learn the result of the Cabinet Council held in the morning. The galleries were also completely filled, most of the leading members of the House of Lords including the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh, being present. Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Disraeli being present. Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Disraeli were loudly cheered by their supporters as they entered the House.—After several questions had been put and answered, the Chancellor of the Exchequer announced that the Cabinet, having taken into consideration the vote and the debate thereon, corresponded with the Mayor, who promised him that Lady Godiva should be "decentpicture." The town has been tricking itself out considerably for the occasion; many flags are flying, and Peeping Tom at his window has been newly painted and planed. In the evening there was a general gloom; the most formidable enemy of the pageant—that which helped to make a failure four years ago—had come; it rained violently. However towards ten it cleared off, and crowds from the neighbouring villages streamed in. It is estimated that there were not fewer than 50,000 strangers in the city. All of them went first to Broadgate to pay their respects to Peeping Tom. It was decided that Lady Godiva should join the procession at St. Mary's Hall, where she practised riding on the "spiteless charger" for half an hour before hand. The crowd at this point was enormous. About twelve o'clock the doors of the old hall were thrown open, and the strains of the Coventry Quadrille, being played by the band of the 4th Dragoons, announced that Lady Godiva was coming forth to the music of St. Mirabel Chimes, and was escorted by four mounted gentlemen to the procession. "Madame Anna Pantem from the Royal Academy, Trafalgar-square," who performed Lady Godiva on this occasion was "clothed on with" the dress of a Circassian dancer. Madame Pantem is a not ill-looking woman of middle age, and the cream-coloured horse, which she rode very well indeed, was superb. For the rest of the procession it was a shabby burlesque of characters. A few, as Robin Hood, Maid Marian, and a little shepherdess under a bower, with some sheep—were well enough, but Falstaff, Queen Elizabeth, Punch, and the like, were absurd. Some trade societies made a very good appearance, and there were also fresh and highly rouged Foresters. The procession, which was marshalled by the city surveyor, was moving about four hours altogether, at the end of which Lady Godiva and all the women and children were looking very miserable.

After a severe and bloody, or, as the Italians describe it, "desperate" struggle, which lasted nearly the whole day—that longest of summer days—the imperial army was victorious along the whole line. They stormed the summit of Monte reto, where the war will be decided on the longest, and at the close of the engagement, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, they also carried the position of Custozza, a spot fatal to Italian arms in their encounter with Radetzki and about 2800 prisoners, and behaved as the Archduke Albert's bulletin states with even more than their ordinary bravery and enthusiasm. On the same evening the King of Italy with his army, was still retreating across the Mincio where he is not likely to be pursued; but neither, perhaps, will the condition of his shattered army enable him to resume the offensive for some time to come.

THE JAMAICA COMMISSION

In Reve Glaunorff's Oriental Circular we read the following epitome of the report presented by the Jamaica Commission.

On the 18th inst. the official report of the Jamaica Commissioners was presented to both Houses of Parliament. It is a lengthy document, but its brief outline is less than a page. The "conclusion" occupies less than a page. The total number of deaths caused by those engaged in the suppression of the rebellion amounted to 439; the total number of dwellings burned to 1,000; and the number flogged, although uncertain, cannot have been less, the commissioners think, than 600. Their "conclusions" are, in brief as follows:—That the disturbances were owing to a planned resistance to lawful authority, that the causes leading to it were manifold; but were principally a desire to obtain land without rent value of and hence in the legal tribunals in disputes affecting the negroes, personal hostility, and a wish for the death or expulsion of the whites; that although the original design was conceived in the parish of St. Thomas it spread with singular rapidity over the island, so that had with singular rapidity over the island, so that had more than a momentary success been obtained by the insurgents a fearful loss of life and property would have attended their suppression; that praise is due to Governor Eyre for the skill, promptitude, and vigour which he manifested during the early stages of the insurrection, to the exercise of which qualities his speedy termination is in a great degree to be attributed; that the military and naval operations were prompt and judicious—but that the continuance of martial and judicial law after the outbreak had been suppressed was no longer than necessary; that the punishments inflicted were excessive; that the punishment of death was unnecessarily frequent; that the floggings were reckless, and at times positive. by barbarous; and that the burning of 1,000 houses was wanton and cruel. The report is signed "H. K. Storks, Lieut.-General; Rodwell Jackson, Q.C.; Edmund R. Holmes, Esq.; Chas. S. Gurney, and J. B. Maule," with "Charles S. Roundell, Secretary," and dated April 9th, 1866. It is accompanied by a long dispatch from Mr. Cardwell to Sir Henry Storks expressive of the opinion of her Majesty's Government upon the facts elicited by the commissioners, and announcing that under the circumstances they do not think it advisable to reinstate Mr. Eyre in his government.

THE STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.

The papers give the following account of the bill for the erection of the Straits Settlements into a colony.

A bill before the House of Commons provides that the Straits Settlements—that is to say, the Island of Singapore, Prince of Wales' Island, and Malacca—shall, at a time to be fixed by Order in Council, cease to be part of India; and the Governor-General in Council may establish laws and constitute Courts for the government of these Settlements. This transfer from the Indian to the home administration is made at the desire of the merchants in the Settlements. It will not entail any charge on the finances of the country—the Straits Settlements will be self-supporting. Sir Bartle Frere, Sir Robinson was instructed by the late duke of Newcastle to report upon the subject of ship charges, and the report, which was made two years ago, recommends that the three Settlements be incorporated into one Crown colony, under one governor, with an executive council, and under one governor, with an executive council, and that for all legislative purposes there should be but one and style of Reimann & Co.

THE "PRINCE ALBERT" CASE.

In the China Express inaccurate as ever, we read:—

The news which lately reached this country of the confiscation of the steamer Prince Albert, for trading to the at present unrecognised port of Kiung-chow, has been followed by a notification from the Committee of the Privy Council for Trade, intimating that such Chinese ports as have not hitherto been opened to British trade are not to be considered open without a formal declaration to that effect. The notification also sets forth that the harbour-master at Hongkong will in future be instructed to issue no clearances for Kiung-chow until a British Consul shall have been duly installed at the port, and its opening has been publicly notified.

General Langlois has just passed through Paris on his way to Switzerland from London. It may be remembered that during the captivity in Austria, Switzerland offered him the rights of a Swiss citizen, and it was in virtue of an application from the Federal Council that the general was released from his prison.

SCHEDENT VIENNA.—During the month of April there were sixty-five attempts at suicide at Vienna, thirty-six of which ended fatally. Forty-seven of them were committed by men, fifteen by women, and three by children from nine to fourteen years of age. Twenty-two persons hanged themselves, fifteen drowned themselves, eleven took poison, five cut their throats, two shot themselves, and seven died of self-inflicted stabs.
